

Michael Guidry
April 4, 2017

Continuation of a complaint regarding life with less rights than active terrorists within USA

This is my third message which is directed towards every congress member. I will attempt to deliver to as many senators as possible as well. It is directly being sent while simultaneously releasing several documents regarding physical, and cyber vulnerabilities worldwide. I had exhausted resources of contacts relating to crimes being committed against myself. I decided releasing information of this statue was the best way to ensure the U.S. government initiates investigations, or speeds them up. My goal is to ensure anyone who had given approval, or worked directly with agencies involved is forced out of government. Human and Civil rights are not something that should be taken lightly when damages are so serious.

The impact of publicly releasing these vulnerabilities is going to be incalculable for the foreseeable future, although I'm sure it will be extreme. The vulnerabilities are applicable worldwide therefore it is something that United Nations should consider regardless. It will change how countries view cyber warfare, and signal intelligence forever. I will proceed to have several releases throughout April. I waited a year since I first attempted to contact the United Nations Office for Human and Civil Rights Violations.

It is obnoxious that I am still being drugged, or having any related problems with obvious approval of the U.S. Federal government. I was given date rape drugs within the last month. I had mentioned in my last document that I would file charges in the area of $300 million per incident after dates where I began contacting officials. It is going to be far worse after at this point. I have no issue going to court for the rest of my life. I will be proceeding to enforce jail sentences especially for the most recent events.

I will reiterate simple facts. I began being drugged in the late 90s and it has continued throughout my life. I am 31 at the time of this document. I've had over 50 separate incidents which will be considered full blown rape. This is not a joke or a game. I've gave a lot of information in the past with faxes to congress, and other government officials. Scenarios can be easily verified either from my family, or people living in places I have lived. I do not plan on letting any of these crimes go, and it literally will only get worse depending on how much time in my life continues to be wasted. I never joined military, and have always kept civilian status. Government should have no right, or place in deciding factors for my life. I will ensure everyone involved ceases to work in any way shape or form with the US government, and possibly in any way related to human healthcare. I plan on finding other civilians who may have been affected in the past as well. The rape incidents will have to be justified one by one, and I plan on seeking jail for particular incidents. None of this will be negotiable.

Corporations that have stolen my technology will be penalized for not paying me as would any scenario of intellectual property theft. Government will be penalized directly using IRS tax percentages which is equal to what U.S. citizens are forced to pay. This relates to technology stolen, and damages due to being drugged without consent. It is currently somewhere in the area of a $1 million USD/day for penalties alone. It may actually exceed that considering the future charges, and damages I plan to seek. The next time someone within the US government wishes to play god, then I hope that they consider these cases. I assure you that they will have a lasting effect.

I have nothing against my own country. I only have issues with the people who have the blessing of the government, and have been violating peoples rights. I do not care what job title these individuals have. Human and civil rights are not negotiable with anyone. I seem to be mixed up with terrorists at the moment. I do not mean that literally.. In other words, terrorists actually have more rights than I do right now.

April is the month I chose for releasing vulnerability information which affects major platforms worldwide. It is one year after I began contacting government agencies. It is not solely directed at America. I plan on sending the same information to a variety of countries. I have discovered these technologies, or vulnerabilities therefore it is within my right for deciding how to distribute the information. I chose to include other countries because my stolen technologies have been sold worldwide. Therefore I see it of no consequence by doing the same. I will admit that I wouldn't proceed this way naturally although I have been getting drugged continuously. I assure you the amount of damage it will take employees to fix these problems due to immediate release will be of high value. It will also require upgrades, and updates to various other systems. It will not be cheap, yet you can just chalk it up to another bill on top of the $300 million I will seek in damages for each incident. Good job to the people to blame.

I will also send this document to all intelligence agencies that I believe it may affect, or that may use software being discussed in the releases. I have chosen to hold back information regarding government employees, or associates which have been involved with my life in negative ways. I will refuse to continue to remove their information from future releases at a particular date and time. I had given adequate time which I expected to be required for internal investigations. I therefore will not have any hard feelings about any of my actions. The corporations who have stolen my intellectual property will soon afterwards be given the same treatment.

I am not claiming that you are to blame directly, although it has been a year since I first contacted members of congress so I expected things to be different by now. I plan on lobbying against pretty much anyone in the future who should have reacted differently to protect citizens in our democracy. Laws will change for sure regrading government involvement in civilian life. I will also proceed to go backwards in history through each case, and situation to ensure adequate measures are taken for each situation which resulted in personal damage, or to others who may have experienced similar situations.

The original documents, and some vulnerability information will be attached.